Review Summary

I've worked with the iLogos team for the past year as a project manager for Chess.com, during which time they designed and built a new app for us, with a fun, medieval look and theme. (This was my company's second engagement with iLogos, as they had earlier created an excellent, adventure-themed children's app for us.)

In that time, iLogos has been great to work with at both the product/project and technical levels. Communications have been clear and frequent; they definitely understand our needs, and we appreciate the insights they bring to our product discussions.

Their development and QA team do a great job, working well with our own internal tech team whenever required, and delivering stable, quality software. Their art team is also fantastic! We love the characters and settings produced for our most recent app. It's great-looking stuff!

iLogos is a complete pleasure to work with. We recommend them and look forward to building cool new things with them ourselves!

What was the project name that you have worked with iLogos Game Studios?
Kingdom Chess App for Chess.com

Describe your project in brief

They helped us to create a new app, in which players grow and maintain a medieval kingdom by doing activities that involve playing or practicing chess. This required them to create apps for iOS and Android and to communicate with Chess.com's back end for data and interactive play features.

What is it about the company that you appreciate the most?

I really appreciate their attention to detail and great professionalism.
What was it about the company that you didn't like which they should do better?
I'm sorry, but I really cannot think of anything at all.

Review Summary

As an Art Director for a mobile gaming company, I've worked with iLogos for over one year. The work of their artists and animators is exceptional. Maria and her team are very well versed in game art and mechanics, she is excellent at project management, super smart, and her communication skills are fantastic. She keeps me well informed on the status of production, with regular review sessions throughout the process. I'm thrilled at the top-quality work they provide in a very timely manner. I highly recommend working with them for all your game art production needs
